OUTPUT SCREENSHOTS:

Established by Mukesh Bansal along with Ashutosh Lawania and Vineet Saxena; Myntra sold on-demand personalized gift items. It mainly operated on the B2B (business-to-business) model during its initial years. Between 2007 and 2010, the site allowed customers to personalize products such as T-shirts, mugs, mouse pads, and others.[11] In 2011, Myntra began selling fashion and lifestyle products and moved away from personalisation. By 2012 Myntra offered products from 350 Indian and International brands. The website launched the brands Fastrack Watches and Being Human.[12] In 2014 Myntra was acquired by Flipkart in a deal valued at ₹2,000 crore (US$280 million). The purchase was influenced by two large common shareholders Tiger Global and Accel Partners.[10] Myntra functions and operates independently.[13] Myntra continues to operate as a standalone brand under Flipkart ownership, focusing primarily on "fashion-conscious" consumers. [14] In 2014, Myntra's portfolio included about 1,50,000 products of over 1000 brands, with a distribution area of around 9000 pincodes in India.[15] In 2015, Ananth Narayanan became the Chief Executive Officer of Myntra.[16] On 10 May 2015, Myntra announced that it would shut down its website, and serve customers exclusively through its mobile app beginning 15 May. The service had already discontinued its mobile website in favour of the app.[17] Myntra justified its decision by stating that 95% of traffic on its website came via mobile devices, and that 70% of its purchases were performed on smartphones. The move received mixed reception, and resulted in a 10% decline in sales.[18][19] In February 2016, acknowledging the failure of the "app-only" model, Myntra announced that it would revive its website.[20] In September 2017, Myntra negotiated the rights to manage Esprit Holdings's 15 offline stores in India.[21][22] Myntra reported a net loss of ₹151.20 crore in the financial year 2017-18.[23] In January 2021, Myntra changed its logo after a police complaint was registered that the logo resembles a naked woman. The complaint was filed by a woman named Naaz Patel, who runs an NGO called Avesta Foundation [ ] Acquisitions and investments In October 2007, Myntra received its initial funding from Erasmic Venture Fund (now known as Accel Partners), Sasha Mirchandani from Mumbai Angels and a few other investors. In November 2008, Myntra raised almost $5 million from NEA-IndoUS Ventures, IDG Ventures and Accel Partners. Myntra raised $14 million in a Series B round of funding. This round of investment was led by Tiger Global, a private equity firm; the existing investors IDG Ventures and Indo-US Venture Partners also put in substantial amount towards funding Myntra. Towards the end of 2011, Myntra.com raised $20 million in its third round of funding, again led by Tiger Global.[25] [26] In February 2014, Myntra raised additional $50 Million (Rs 3 ) in equity funding from Premji Invest and few other Private Investors.[27] In April 2015, Myntra acquired Bengaluru-based mobile app development platform company Native5, with a view to strengthen and expand Myntra's mobile technology team.[28] In July 2016 Myntra acquired mobile-based content aggregation platform Cubeit, to strengthen and expand its technology team.[28][ ][29] In Myntra acquired their rival Jabong.com to become India's largest fashion platform.[30] In October 2017, Myntra partnered with Ministry of Textiles to promote handloom industry.[31][32] In April 2017, the company acquired InLogg, a city-based technology platform for the e-commerce sector.[33] In April 2018, Myntra bought Bengaluru-based start-up Witworks, a maker of smart devices to strengthen its technology.[34] Digital Reality Show (Fashion Influencer) Main article: Myntra Fashion Superstar Launched its first digital reality show, Myntra Fashion Superstar, which released on its first talent hunt on Myntra app on 17 September 2019.[35] [36] [37] In association with Zoom Studios,[38] this show will identify & reward India's next fashion influencer. In a ten episode reality series which will see 10 contenders competing with each other. They would also be mentored and judged by a star studded jury, from the world of Bollywood & social media, including Bollywood diva Sonakshi Sinha and leading celebrity stylist, Shaleena Nathani.[39] [41] [42] [43] [44] Regulatory action and lawsuits The Enforcement Directorate of India against Myntra for breach of Foreign Exchange Management Act.[45] In January 2016, Enforcement Directorate issued notice to Myntra's owner Flipkart. It has a tie-up with Nike to offer the latest to sell all authentic Nike accessories.[46] Labour issues In June 2016, Myntra's logistics staff went on a strike alleging lack of basic employee benefits and good wages.[47][ ][ ]
